

CFWI Regional Water Supply Plan Team Requesting Stakeholder Input on Water Supply Options

As part of the Central Florida Water Initiative (CFWI) 2025 Regional Water Supply Plan (RWSP) effort, the water management districts are currently requesting input and updates from stakeholders in the CFWI Planning Area on current and/or potential water supply, water resource development, and water conservation project options.

The goal of this process is to update the current list of projects and include any new project concepts to help meet the Planning Area's future water supply needs and the water needs of regional natural systems.

A Water Supply Options table has been emailed to utility stakeholders that provides pre-filled information for projects that were included in the 2020 CFWI RWSP. Utilities that would like to submit a project concept for consideration in the 2025 CFWI RWSP, are encouraged to please review the table and provide any revisions as follows:

- Update projects listed in the 2020 CFWI RWSP with any new or changed information such as construction status.
- Delete any projects that are no longer being considered for future development.
- Add any new projects that were not included in the 2020 CFWI RWSP.

The Water Supply Options table can be submitted via mail or email to the representative from your water management district as listed below. The Districts greatly appreciate your help and participation in this 2025 CFWI RWSP update effort and would like any responses submitted no later than Jan. 22, 2024.

If you did not receive the table or you have any questions regarding this request, please do not hesitate to contact one of the District staff identified below:
